JOHN WESLEY LINVILLE of Robertson county has been granted a pension of $12 per month, with arrearages amounting to over $300.

THE St. Lawrence is laid up above the foot of Broadway, Cincinnati. She will probably be used for excursion purposes this summer.

THE Lexington Press Club is raising $1,500 to supplement the fund of $1,000 to pay for entertaining the Kentucky Press Association.

THE Catalogue of Haywood Female Seminary for the current year is now in the hands of the printer and will be issued in a week or so.

HOS. C. J. BROWDER and Senator Mulligan of Lexington are out and out Cleveland men, and are candidates for Delegate to the Chicago Convention.

W. H. DULANEY and YOUNG E. Allison, both of Louisville, have been elected President and Secretary, respectively, of Kentucky's World's Fair Commissioners.

At the meeting of Mayville Communion No. 10, K. T., Monday evening Hon. Horace January, Past Grand Commander of Kentucky, was, by rising vote, made a life member of the Communion.

The funeral of Captain George A. Sivers at Ripley yesterday afternoon was one of the largest ever seen in that city. A number of members of Joseph Heiser Post of this city were in attendance.

MR. AND MRS. R. A. COCHRAN, Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Cochran, Jr., M. J. Cochran, Mrs. Horace January, Miss Margaret Finch, James Cochran and Hal Curran are all in Danville attending the Cochran-Weiss nuptials.

REV. J. M. EVANS returned home on Monday after having conducted two very successful meetings at Huntington, W. Va. There were ninety additions to the Presbyterian Church and enough money was raised to build a new church.

AUTHORITIES upon the subject have about arrived at the conclusion that the late frosts did no serious damage so far as the fruits are concerned, except in very low places and that the peaches and cherry crops will be up to the average.

A POWER of indignant citizens are in hot pursuit of the murderers, Bud Anderson and Lucy Roberts, who escaped from the Marshall County Jail at Shannon a few weeks ago. Anderson and Roberts have been going about the country hunting and fishing, and have been seen frequently during the past week.

THE remains of the late Captain Isaac Nelson were brought here on the F. V. last night. The funeral will take place to-morrow morning at 11 o'clock—the 6th anniversary of his birth—from the residence of Simon Nelson, Second and Lexington streets. There will be services at the house conducted by the Rev. J. E. Wright.

At the meeting of DeKalb Lodge last night, being the Seventy-third Anniversary of American Oddfellows, impromptu speeches were made by Dr. J. H. Samuel, John Druley C. L. Selles, W. H. Cox, Thomas A. Davis, James Rice of Ringgold, C. W. Ward, Allan D. Cole, John W. Thompson, W. R. Warder, W. T. Cole and William A. Tolle.

NO PARDON WANTED BY HUGH.

Ex-Postmaster Mulholland to Take an Appeal and Give Bond To-Morrow.

Hugh Mulholland, ex-Postmaster at Paducah, was sentenced by Judge Barr at Louisville this morning, but if he ever enters upon a prison term it will be many months from now.

Immediately after sentence was passed Mulholland's attorneys gave notice of an appeal to the United States Supreme Court.

Judge Barr will fix a bond, which the prisoner will furnish, and he will again be free.

The Supreme Court does not convene until next September, and there is no telling how much of the term will be exhausted before the Mulholland case is taken up.

The appeal for a new trial is based principally upon the claim that testimony which Judge Barr refused to admit during the trial was competent in the light of reason. The highest courts it is claimed are more and more taking the stand that each case should be tried in the lower courts on its own merits and not in accordance with the method of procedure in previous trials. Precedents are not regarded as they formerly were.

Judge Barr's refusal to grant a new trial was in the light of a precedent, and Mulholland's attorneys, the leading one of whom is Judge Lindsay, hope the Supreme Court will pay due regard to the common-sense plan of allowing all testimony having any bearing on a criminal case to be introduced at the trial.

It was rumored that President Harrison had promised to pardon Mr. Mulholland. The latter, however, does not want a pardon. He believes, as do his attorneys, that the Supreme Court will reverse the decision of the lower court, and on the new trial that he will be found not guilty and the stigma removed from his name.

A MEETING of unusual interest of two weeks' duration at the Baptist Church, Shelbyville, Rev. W. F. Kom. Pastor, has just closed. There were forty addressees to the membership. Thirty-five were baptized. The Pastor was assisted by the Rev. Fred D. Hale of Louisville.

COLONEL JOHN V. DAY, Dr. Samuel Pangburn and George M. Clinger left morning for Lebanon, to represent J. Heiser Post at the State Encampment of the G. A. R. Mrs. Carrie L. Davis and Mrs. John Helmer accompanied the party as delegates to the Women's Relief Corps.

BRUCE CHAMP has it from reliable authority that Editor C. C. Moore will be taken before the Grand Jury for the purpose of being interrogated regarding the author of certain letters, and that he has been so informed, and announces that he will not in jail before divulging the name of the author.

HENRY BOYCE, second mate on the St. Lawrence, had a cold bath in the muddy river at Cincinnati. While standing on a stage of the Mail Line Wharfboat, a reckless driver allowed the pole of his wagon to strike Boyce and knock him off the stage into the river. He succeeded in swimming out. It is said the driver was drunk.

The funeral of the late James T. Gault, Jr., took place yesterday morning at his late residence near Washington at 10 o'clock, the services being conducted by Rev. J. E. Wright of this city. The pallbearers were Messrs. L. G. Malby, Edward Gault, Barker Jones, Thos. Owens, E. P. Wheeler and S. T. Hickman. The remains were interred in the cemetery at Washington.

The consolidation of the Standard Oil Company of Kentucky and the Consolidated Tank Line Company of Cincinnati will necessitate also a consolidation of the Louisville and Cincinnati offices, but which of the two places will be favored is not known. The location of the headquarters carries with it considerable patronage in the way of supplies for Southern agencies.

JUDOR VANNON has made a full settlement with the heirs of the late Colonel A. M. Swope, and has distributed among them not less than $92,000. This is about $13,000 more than Colonel Swope was worth at the time of his death, over two years ago. So much of his money was invested in mortgages in Bourbon county farms that it could not be collected until the expiration of the loans, on which $18,000 interest had accumulated.

A MARIAGE license was issued yesterday to Joseph Weaver and Miss Ellen Burns. The couple will be married this evening at half-past seven o'clock by the Rev. J. B. Glorieux at his residence on Limestone street.

Both Mr. Weaver and his bride-to-be were captured and disarmed. He marched him down town and before Mayor Pearce who ordered him taken to jail until he sobered up.

Johnson was tried in the Mayor's Court this morning and fined $20 and costs.

THREE FUNERALS YESTERDAY.

Grass and all of the cereals are growing nicely.

Circuit Court lasts two weeks longer, and then the Court of Claims.

The American Tobacco Company will erect a $15,000 factory at Owensboro.

The City Board of Equalization will remain in session several days yet. But few changes are being made.

SENATOR MULLIGAN of Fayette offered a joint resolution in the Assembly Monday providing for a recess from May 25th to October 4th.

An event in Covington was the marriage of Miss B. Brooke Bright Haldeman to F. A. Bensberg. The ceremony took place at the Cathedral, Bishop Maes officiating, assisted by Rev. Father Lambert.

AFTER EIGHTEEN LONG YEARS.

Two Residents of Newport Claim They Are Victims of Spite Work.

A sensation was caused in Newport by the arrest of John B. Atkinson and his wife, upon the charge of being unmarried.

The couple were arrested upon a warrant sworn out by Willis D. Benton, a pension agent of that city, which accuses Atkinson and Theresa Morton, the latter having been recognized as the former's wife for the past eighteen years, with having lived together without ever having been wedded.

The defendants, who have four children and have always been regarded as respectable and honest people, were greatly surprised when taken into custody, and claimed that they were married by a Magistrate in Cincinnati sixteen years ago. Their marriage certificate was lost, however, several years ago by the burning of a flatboat on the Ohio river. The case, the prosecuting witness in the case, became quite well known at the last term of the United States Court in Covington, when he was indicted for overcharging pension clients, who claimed that he had used various questionable methods to extort fees from them far in excess of those allowed by law.

When Mr. Atkinson was told who had procured his arrest he stated that it was simply a piece of spite work on the part of Benton, who had been employed by his sister-in-law, Mrs. Libby, to assist in securing her a pension. The attorney wrote one letter to Washington for her, and when she received her money he demanded $300. She refused to give him that much, until one day he got her in his office and secured by her story, compelled her to sign a check for that amount. This is one of the cases in which Benton was indicted and as the trial comes up next month, the defendants think he is endeavoring to discredit their testimony by making them look upon this case as if it has caused much talk, and will be fully ventilated in the Courts.

W. M. BREWLEY of Vaneburg is named as a suitable person to fill the unexpired term of Senator Poyntz.

SCOTT HAYES, son of ex-President Hayes, was in Covington yesterday, the guest of Will Hayes, and called upon a number of pretty Kentucky girls. Mr. Hayes is a handsome, courteous and refined gentleman. He complimented the ladies he had the pleasure of meeting very highly. He ought to come to Mayville if he wants to see pretty girls.

THE Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad management have resolved to make a concession to the holders of the Elizabethport, Lexington and Big Sandy six per cent. bonds who expressed dissatisfaction with the terms of the sale of the late named road to the Chesapeake and Ohio. The Big Sandy sixes were to receive a guaranteed four per cent. bond. As a result of a vigorous rebellion on the part of the holders of the $5,280,000 Big Sandy sixes, the Chesapeake and Ohio people now offer them a guaranteed five per cent. bond. The offer will probably be accepted.

LEWIS JOHNSON, colored, yesterday afternoon filled up on different kinds of whisky and kicked up quite a disturbance on Forest avenue. He went to the home of Editor M. F. Marsh and told Mrs. Marsh that Mr. Littleton Hill had sent him for a revolver to kill a mad dog father up the street. The lady not knowing his condition, and thinking he was employed by Mr. Hill, gave him the weapon which contained two cartridges. The fellow took the pistol out on the street and began firing much to the comfort of the citizens living in the neighborhood. James Dunn and William Wise captured and disarmed him, and marched him down town and before Mayor Pearce who ordered him taken to jail until he sobered up.

THE MASON CIRCUIT COURT.

Gleanings From Late Yesterday's and Early To-day's Docket.

Parker & Co. and others vs. J. T. Long; dismissed settled.

Omar Dodson vs. Elizabeth Long; judgment rendered.

Alice Dora vs. Anthony Weiland; dismissed settled.

In the case of Lena Tulle by R. P. Tolle her next friend, vs. Thomas Cooper, wherein Miss Tulle sues Cooper for $10,000 damages for slander, the Jury was sworn and the case continued until Friday morning. The parties interested live near Orangeburg. The plaintiff alleges that the defendant circulated reports in the neighborhood reflecting on her character and brings suit for the amount named.

John R. Wilhite vs. H. T. Warder; set for next Monday.

The jury in the case of James A. Jackson vs. Eli Umstadt rendered a verdict of $100 for plaintiff.

In Society.

On Monday evening Miss Power entertained at her home, Sharon, Ohio, in honor of her guest Miss Gillespie of Pittsburgh. Dancing was the principal amusement indulged in. The following ladies and gentlemen from this city were present: Misses Anna Ingles Scott, Blanche Crum, Lillian Thomas, Isabelle Barkley, Bettie Coons, Mamie Hoeker and Anna McDougle; and Messrs. Harry Arkley, Harry Owens, Louis Hall of Covington, Clarence Watson, Clarence Dobyns, Oscar McDougle and Will Wood.

Joy at Limestone Farm.

We are not a chronicler of the births of colts, but there was foaled last evening at the Limestone Farm one of such royal lineage and gentleness from this city were present: Misses Anna Ingles Scott, Blanche Crum, Lillian Thomas, Isabelle Barkley, Bettie Coons, Mamie Hoeker and Anna McDougle; and Messrs. Harry Arkley, Harry Owens, Louis Hall of Covington, Clarence Watson, Clarence Dobyns, Oscar McDougle and Will Wood.

Lamentable Affliction.

The Covington Commonwealth says Miss Lizzie Lott, the unfortunate girl whose lamentable affliction has already been noted, was brought from the College Hill Sanitarium by her heart-broken father, who the physicians here pronounced her case incurable, and recommended that she be sent to an asylum.

Miss Lott is an exceedingly pretty girl, well educated and a skillful musician, and her affliction is deeply regretted by all. Her father stated that her mind has been weak at times for the past six months, and he denies most strenuously that there is any love affair connected with it, and asserts that it was caused by a dentist in Indianapolis administering an overdose of gas while drawing teeth.

THE Stewart school text-book bill, already passed in the Senate, and a special order in the House yesterday, was postponed till May 4th.

DR. J. H. SAMUEL, Physician and Surgeon, announces to THE LEDGER readers that he has located permanently in Mayville for the practice of his profession.

At Covington Ben Urdage, a sixteen-year-old boy struck his father on the head with a beer glass badly hurting him. The lad was arrested but the old man was too ill to appear against him.

It is settled. The lucky ladies who are to be Kentucky's Commissioners to the World's Fair are Miss Lucy Lee Hill of Lexington, Miss Ida Symmes of Louisville, and Mrs. Susan H. Brown of Owensboro.

MR. CANSLER offered a resolution declaring that the World's Fair Commissioners have totally ignored the wishes of the House in the selection of the lady managers, but the Speaker very properly voted it out of order.

Last night some mischievously inclined persons removed the bell from the Sixth Ward Schoolhouse. It has been but a short time since the same trick was played at the same school. The police are investigating the matter.

MISS MARGARET REID KACKLEY will sail for Europe in June, to be absent until late in the fall. She was recently given a private reception at the White House by President Harrison, where some forty or fifty covers were laid.

SAM JONES, a farmer living in the Eastern part of Bath county, made a lucky find under rather peculiar circumstances. He and his son went out into the woods to chop some stoverwood and found an old hollow walnut tree. After it was felled, Mr. Jones chanced to look into the stump, where he discovered a peculiar looking earthen jar. It was at once secured, and on removing the lid, the jar was found to be filled with silver coin. The value of which is estimated by a local jeweler to be near $200. How came it to be secreted in such a place and by whom, will doubtless forever remain a mystery.

CORDAGE TRUST.

"Count" John Good Severs His Connection With It.

He Has Decided to Resume Operations on His Own Account.

His New Twine Machine He Can Make Things Lively for the Combination.

His New Twine Machine He Can Make Things Lively for the Combination.

New York, April 27.—The National Cordage trust, has been paying John Good, the millionaire inventor and twine manufacturer, over $300,000 a year to keep his mills shut down, and it has held an option, said to be for $7,000,000, on his plant, including a new twine machine that he traded to the trust. The trust announced semi-officially some time ago that this option had been taken up, but it leaked out Tuesday that Mr. Good had notified the trust that he did not consider his contracts binding, and that he would open his mills and keep them open. Wall street was startled by the report and many inquiries were made at the offices of the Cordage Co., but the story of any break in its relations with Mr. Good was denied there.

When I called to see Mr. Good, who is addressed as "Count" by his friends, for he was made a count of the Holy Roman Empire by the pope in 1887, he smilingly acknowledged that he had severed his relations with the Cordage trust, and that he had notified the trust that he did not consider his contracts binding, and that he would open his mills and keep them open. Wall street was startled by the report and many inquiries were made at the offices of the Cordage Co., but the story of any break in its relations with Mr. Good was denied there.

IN ROC SIGNO VINCES.

A strenuous effort is being made by persons interested in the passage of the bill recently introduced in the House by Representative Post of Illinois, to reduce letter postage from two to one cent per ounce.

A circular has been distributed broadcast and has been received by nearly every member of the Congress stating that 104 members have promised to vote for the bill and urging non-committee members to support it.

The circular has been sent to the people in all doubtful Congressional Districts asking that their representatives be instructed to vote for the measure.

In response to requests from the House Committee on Postoffice and Postroads as to the effect of one cent postage Postmaster General WAMAKER has answered that the estimated revenue from domestic mail matter of the first class chargeable with postage at the rate of two cents for each ounce or fraction thereof, mailed during the year ended June 30, 1900, was $38,068,106, which amount was equal to 62.5 per cent. of the total revenues of the department.

There has since been no change in the rates of postage, or in the conditions affecting the revenues, and it may be assumed, he believes, that the proportions of the different classes of matter shown will apply at the present time.

The total estimated revenue of the department for the current year has been $72,777,150, of which amount $45,385,719 has been received from first class matter. The reduction of the rate from two cents to one cent would, in the opinion of the Postmaster General, be followed by a corresponding loss of $22,742,350. Mr. WAMAKER thinks that while it may reasonably be expected that the stimulus of lower rates would result in something more than a normal growth of the business, it is not probable that the revenue derived from the extra business would, at the present time, compensate for the loss incurred through a reduction of rate. The Postmaster General is in favor of a reduction of letter postage at the proper time, but he does not believe it has yet arrived, and he will, consequently oppose any contemplated change on the ground that it is impracticable.

SHELLS FOR CAMEOS.

Those Which Are Preferred for the Purpose.
For cameo cutting various kinds of shells are used. There are the bull's mouth (Cassia Russa), which has a red inner coat, or what is known as a sardonyx ground; the black helmet (Cassia Madagascariensis), which also has a so-called onyx ground, and which shows up white on a dark clear color; the horned helmet (Cassia cornuta), which on an orange yellow ground, carries the queen conch (Strombus gigas), with a pink ground. The latter shell, says the Jewelers' Weekly, is about ten inches long, with a rose-colored aperture and an extremely broad lip rounded above.

The bull's mouth and the black helmet are the best shells, for the horned helmet is apt to separate from the ground, or to "double," as the French workmen express it. The queen conch seldom has the two colors distinctly marked from each other, and the pink of the ground fades on exposure to light. The red color of the shell, however, this shell affords only a slight cameo large enough for a brooch and several small pieces for shirt studs, while the black helmet furnishes on an average about five brooches and several studs.

Cassia flammula, which is about six inches long, decussate and C. t. rosa, which are white upon a dark clear color, are also occasionally used. The bull's mouth shells are derived from India and Ceylon, and the queen conch and queen conches from the West Indies.

There are forty-seven Democrats in the "State of Lewis" who are blind over to play the Ascendant act and don the mantle that has fallen from the shoulders of that celebrated expounder of the Tariff, CHARLES FORTNEY. Maybe "Old Huteh" couldn't paralyze that lead pinch the Lemmies think they have!

FOOLING THE SNAKE.

Rats Construct a Barrier Against a Reptile Who Is Seeking Supper.
Among the prickliest of the cacti of America is one called the toy spine, which is covered with spikes to an unusual extent, and so sharp and easily broken that they are not only to touch them to cause the owner to penetrate the cactus to separate from the cactus. There seems to be a poison in the spines; for this reason, says the Irish Times, snakes and reptiles avoid it most scrupulously. A party of rats was found building a veritable fortification of the toy spines about their burrow; some were at the thick cutting the thorns others carried them cautiously to the nest, while others set them in point, outwardly and very close together. This went on for several days until a circular line of toy spines had been constructed from the rock on each side of the burrow hole. One evening the rats were at play and a stream of rats went leaping from the hole, cutting the thorns others carried them to the fortification the snake attempted, but ineffectually, to cross it. Several times he tried but at last drew back. If satisfied that the fortification was impregnable, while some of the rats ventured out of the hole and evidently much enjoyed the disfigurement of the enemy.

A VERY HOT SUN.

Its Surface Temperature Is Placed at Three Thousand Degrees Centigrade.
Sir William Thomson has calculated that the quantity of fuel required for each square yard of solar surface would be no less than 55,000 pounds of coal per hour, equivalent to the work of a steam engine of 63,000 horse power. This enormous expenditure of fuel would be sufficient to melt a thickness of about forty feet of ice per minute at the sun's surface, says the Gentleman's Magazine. Sir John Herschel says: "Supposing a cylinder of ice forty-five miles in diameter to be continually darted into the sun with the velocity of light, and that the water produced by its fusion were continually carried off, heat now given off constantly by radiation would be the whole expended in its liquefaction, on the one hand, so as to leave no radiant surplus, and on the other, the actual temperature at its surface would undergo no diminution."

As to the actual temperature of the sun's surface, various estimates have been made by different computers. Secchi supposed it to be about 10,000, 600 degrees of the centigrade thermometer and Spiller 17,000 degrees of the same scale, while M. Pouillet thinks that it lies between 1,401 and 1,701 degrees. C. M. Bequerel, Prof. Langley and Sir William Thomson consider that the temperature of the solar photosphere cannot exceed 3,000 degrees centigrade. According to M. Saint Claire Deville the temperature is somewhere about 2,600 degrees to 2,800 degrees.

A REMARKABLE COINCIDENCE.

How a Letter Brought Back Its Own Answer.
Among the stories of extraordinary coincidences, writes a London correspondent of the Leeds Mercury, not the least curious in the history of a letter. A short time ago a lady in London wished to write to a friend in America, whose address she did not know. The only means she had of procuring the address was to write to a mutual friend, who also lived in America. This she accordingly did, and the letter was duly received. The ship which carried the letter was wrecked and the mails for a time lost. They were eventually recovered and brought back to England, the letters, now much damaged by sea water, being returned through the local letter office to the sender. The letter in question was sent back to the lady, who naturally examined it minutely. To her surprise she found that another letter had become closely stuck to it. Holding up the two-folded letter to the light, she perceived the address on the one which was stuck to her own. It was a letter addressed to the friend to whom she wished to write, and she discovered whose whereabouts her own letter had been dispatched. Her letter thus literally brought back its own answer.

ENORMOUS PRESSURE.

Great Timbers For Underground Rooms Like Iron.
The enormous depth of the great Cascade falls in Nevada and the gigantic and incomprehensible weight of the mass of stones and earth resting upon the timbers (which actually hold the mountains) that have been hewn by the miners, have wrought wonders which puzzle the deepest thinkers. For instance, says the Observer, the timbers, which are as smooth as dressed mahogany and not thicker than your wrist, are often taken out of deserted portions of the mine. They are covered with a heavy scale of iron, and a knife of the best material will not make a scratch on them.

Originally they were solid oak timbers but by twelve inches square. But they are not so thick as a walking stick upon removal after having seen years of service? The weight of the mountain bearing upon them from all directions, perpendicularly as well as laterally, for it is only in this way that mines of enormous depth can be safely timbered) has wrought the wonders seen in the polished stock. These timbers, which are found in small sections, sometimes in long pieces, and are taken out where cave-ins have occurred and displaced the timbers.

It is a well-known fact that paper can be compressed until it will be so hard that a diamond will hardly touch it, but no known mechanism of the present of the past has such power to compress and work marvels with wood.

THE PAINTER'S MODEL.

In His Youth He Found an "Innocence" in His Art "Guilt."
A painter once wanted a picture of Innocence, and drew the likeness of a child at prayer. The little suppliant was kneeling beside his mother, the palms of his uplifted hands were reverently pressed together, his rosy cheeks spoke of health, and his blue eyes were upturned with the expression of devotion and peace. The portrait of young Rupert was much prized by the painter, who hung it on the study wall and called it "Innocence."

Years passed away, says the Irish Times, and the artist became an old man. Still the picture hung there. He often thought of painting a counterpart, the picture of "Guilt," but had not found an opportunity. At last he effected his purpose by paying a visit to a neighboring farm. In the damp floor of his cell lay a wretched culprit named Randall, hunched, ironed, and with his body and soul under his eyes; vice was visible in his face.

The painter succeeded admirably, and the portrait of young Rupert and Randall were hung side by side for "Innocence and Guilt." But who was young Rupert and who was Randall? Alas! the two were one. Old Randall, who young Rupert led astray by bad companions, and ending his life in a damp and shameful dungeon.

THE SPHERE OF MATHEMATICS.

It is a Very Broad One—Discovering a Planet.
The science of mathematics has a long reach. Its capabilities are no more strained by the task of determining the distance of a star or predicting the exact moment of an eclipse than by the task of finding the contents of a corn crib or the sum total of a grocer's bill. Strictly speaking, says the Rural Collaborator, the one is no more wonderful than the other, save that the higher process calls for special knowledge, which comparatively few persons acquire. But to the average untrained sense there is a near approach to the supernatural in some of the exploits of astronomical experts.

Of this sort was the ciphering out, so to speak, of the planet Neptune, sixty times as large as the earth and twenty-five hundred million miles away from it, by Prof. Adams, the deceased British astronomer. He observed certain perturbations of the planet Uranus, and deduced therefrom that there ought to be just such a planet as Neptune discernable by a good telescope at a certain point in the heavens.

Dr. Galle, of Berlin, turned his telescope to that precise spot and there was the new planet—new, though innumerable ages old.

THEY WHIPPED 'EM FREELY.

How the Elegant Manners of the Rising Generation Were Produced.
In a work on the subject of the German, says the Galignani Messenger, some account is given as to how discipline was once maintained in a German school-room. One Johann Jakob Haberknecht, who died some years ago, kept a diary, and he jotted down in the course of his fifty-one years' schoolmaster's career the names of the boys who were subjected to punishment by his recalcitrant pupils.

Schoolmaster Hamer records that he administered 911,217 stripes with a stick, 240,100 "smacks" with a birch rod, 10,980 hits with a ruler, 190,715 hand smacks, 10,385 slaps on the face, 7,905 blows on the ears, 15,900 blows on the head; 12,763 fates from the Bible, Catechism, the poets and grammar.

Every two years he had to buy a Bible to replace the one so roughly handled by his scholars; 777 times he made his pupils kneel on pews, and 5,001 scholars were punished with a ruler held over their heads.

As to his abusive words, not a third of them were to be found in any dictionary.

TIGER BONES.

Some curious items are found in the lists of China's trade statistics. For instance, the report of exports from Shanghai to the Middle Kingdom, says the Yang-ke-Kiang, contains an item of 15,000 pounds of tiger bones, valued at nearly $5,000. Only a Chinese would believe that a tiger bone is so valuable as other than that of a fertilizer, but in China tiger bones are used as a medicine. They impart to the invalid some of the strength of the tiger, and are valued at 9,000 pounds of old deer horns, worth $1,700—another medicinal agency with whose peculiar properties western medical science is not yet acquainted.

Green All Through.

Mrs. Lizzie Wheeler, a Louisville lady, paid a Gypsy fortune teller a dollar to work a charm, and thereby lost $108. The Gypsy persuaded the lady to place $108 in a little green box and wrap it up in a dirty undergarment and turn her back and make a wish while she waved her hands over her to work the charm. While the lady's back was turned the Gypsy changed boxes and exacted a promise from the lady that she would not open the bundle for twenty-four hours. Mrs. Wheeler's wish was that she might be reunited with her husband, from whom she recently separated. She now wishes that she may be reunited with her $108, from which she more recently separated.

A Fayette County Farm.

Meadowbrook Stock Farm, that was the property of W. H. Chepp, was not sold to New York parties, as stated last week, but was bought by the well known distiller and breeder of thoroughbreds, Colonel James E. Pepper, whose celebrated distillery is only a half mile from the Meadowbrook residence. The price paid was the highest ever realized for a Bluegrass farm—$75 per acre. It is the intention of Col. Pepper to improve the property in a manner that will make this the most beautiful and convenient farm in the world. On his famous Pepper Distillery premises is a magnificent quarry of Kentucky limestone, and from this he will secure enough stone to erect a magnificent castle that will be a wonder to the Bluegrass. The farm is already equipped for the breeding business, which the Colonel will continue, using the best strains of blood that can be found in America and England.
